Blessed Smiles.
The good-natured man is not only a blessing to himself, but to all with whom he comes in contact. He makes life seem possible when the surroundings are thick with gloom and disappointments. He causes sunshine and cheer to enter into the dreary drudgery of everyday trials and difficulties. If he is the head of the firm he gets more from his men with a smile than he would with a frown. He knows that keeping good-natured keeps him on the high pedestal.

The Iris.
The iris is supposed to be the fleur-de-lis, or flower-de-luce of the French coat of arms, but really has nothing to do with the design, this being of recent application. The origin of the design is not known, but it is generally believed to represent the head of a spear; by others the flower of a lily, the floral emblem of France.

Left Him Thinking.
"Why don't you put your mind on it and get a good cook?" demanded Jones, impatiently. "Well," replied Mrs. Jones sweetly, "I guess it is because I don't know how. I never seemed to have a faculty for selecting people to live with."

New Idea About Industry.
"Industry," said Uncle Eben, "is what keeps some of us down 'cause we're too lazy to learn anything new."
